On the sagging telephone wires
just outside my window;
hung the corpses
of what were once
three joyous little kites.

Only a few days ago,
they were describing
fussy little arcs,
up there in the blue.
Bobbing and buzzing,
they soared as they flew.

And now they look so forlorn,
so pitiful, hanging there limply.
Their flat silly heads,
wiggling in the breeze.
Their scraggy tails,
twined around the swaying wires.
Their happy function frustrated,
their brief day done.

Devon's curiosity was too intense to be controlled. His vivid imagination was getting the better of him and he was now determined to find out if the house was really occupied by a ghost.

"I know she is inside there," he declared with all the confidence of a brave eight-year-old.

"How do you know it is a female ghost?" said the nervous Ryan, who had secretly believed that some mysterious force was inside there but was too afraid to acknowledge it openly,

"Because of the way she laughs, stupid, also, don't you remember seeing a broom outside last week and when we came back it was gone? She took it and swept her bedroom. I know this for a fact! A fact! A fact! Now stop asking questions. Let's go!"

Ryan realized that he was losing the battle and thought of new arguments to prevent Devon from entering that mysterious abode.

"Devon," he said hesitantly, "suppose she is really inside there and decides to hold us as hostages until a, a-a-"

"Ransom?" blurted Devon.

" Yes, until a ransom is paid,"

"How funny! What would a ghost do with a ransom? Look if you do not want to come with me, tell me. But remember, if you do not accompany me I will not go with you to explore the cave over the weekend,"

This scared Ryan as he was too afraid to explore the little cave by himself.

"OK then," he finally agreed, "let us go and meet this old duppy and if she tries to hurt us, we will practice our karate kicks on her."

Read the passage and answer the questions 55 - 60

Many students enjoy reading a good book. They understand that reading provides many benefits. However, a few students do not appreciate books at all! "Why read?" they ask, "when there is so much to watch on television?" For them the television is more interesting than any book. The screen flickers and changes often, the characters move and speak and the colours add appeal. Books on the other hand, may not even have pictures. You have to use your imagination, which they say, "is hard work!"

However, reading offers several advantages over television. First, you can take a book with you anywhere you want. Anywhere means anywhere: on the bus, to the kitchen, in the street, to church, on vacation and even to the bathroom! It would not be so easy to take a television set with you everywhere you go.

Secondly, a book requires no electricity or batteries to provide it with power. There are no plugs, no switches to turn off or on, nothing to be recharged. You won't be stranded if the electricity goes, or if you do not have money to buy batteries. Your book will work as soon as you open it.

Finally, books allow you to use your imagination. You do not need to depend on the ideas of a movie or television show producer. You can generate your own movie or television show in your head based on the words in your book. You can hear the splash and crash of the Essequibo River in Guyana, touch lions in Africa and smell the market place in Mexico. So what are you waiting for? Pick up a book today, you can take it anywhere with you, it needs no power and best of all you can create your own ideas.

55. Which statement is an opinion?

- A. Viewing television is more interesting than books.
- B. Book requires no electricity or battery.
- C. You can take a book anywhere you want.
- D. A television screen flickers and changes after.

56. Based on the passage, "You can hear the splash and crash of the Essequibo River in Guyana, touch lions in Africa and smell the market place in Mexico" This is possible by
- A. looking at the television
  - B. reading a book and looking at the pictures
  - C. using your imagination when reading
  - D. making your own movie
57. According to the passage all of these are characteristics of books except:
- A. Books do not require energy source
  - B. Books help you to be more creative
  - C. There is no limit to where you can carry a book
  - D. There must be pictures in order to understand a book
58. Which word can replace the word generate in paragraph 4?
- A. Great
  - B. Power
  - C. Create
  - D. Watch
59. According to the passage, what do some children think is hard work?
- A. Creating pictures in your mind
  - B. Reading boring books
  - C. Making the characters move or speak
  - D. Understanding pictures in books
60. What is the main idea of the paragraph 1?
- A. Television is better than books
  - B. The importance of books
  - C. Why some students do not like reading
  - D. The disadvantage of watching television
